OpenAthens

What is OpenAthens?

When you register for OpenAthens (NHSAthens) you get a username and password to access electronic resources subscribed to by NHS England and UHNM.

Who can Register?

All members of NHS staff can register and students on placement for support during their placement.

Where can I use my OpenAthens login?

You can access resources from anywhere, once registered you don't have to use an NHSnet PC. For help to use any of the resources please contact the library to arrange training or phone to receive more information.

What will I have access to?

ejournals and ebooks

Healthcare Databases (HDAS) for literature searching and setting up alerts

Point of care resources and online drug resources to support you in delivering the best possible patient care

Register for OpenAthens

- If you are a UHNM employee, go to www.openathens.nice.org.uk and fill out your details on the online form. In the organisation section type UHNM then wait for UHNM, Staffordshire to appear and select for Stoke users select UHNM, Stoke.

- Use a trust NHS-based email account or an NHS-networked computer to be automatically verified for eligibility. You will face delays or you may be refused if your account is being activated using your personal email. If you are a student on placement please use your university email address.

- An email will be sent with an activation link, click on the link to activate your account. If you have difficulty opening the link copy and paste the link into the browser.

- You will be prompted to set up your password.

- To access content using your OpenAthens, look for the login via OpenAthens link.
